

NeCGA Participates in FFA IMPACT Workshops

For the third year in a row the Nebraska Corn Growers Association have partnered with the Nebraska FFA Foundation to help provide funding for the IMPACT workshops. The IMPACT workshops are geared towards providing leadership development opportunities for FFA members from across the state.

“The Nebraska Corn Growers Association understands how important it is to have strong leaders to represent agriculture. By providing funding for FFA we are investing the next generation of leaders for our industry. The students in attendance at the workshops will be the next generation of farmers and agribusiness employees. In addition, these students interact with others on a daily basis that might not have an understanding of agriculture. We feel having students telling the story of agriculture, and where our food comes from is a very valuable resource,” Mat Habrock NeCGA Field Services Director.

During the workshops NeCGA representatives have had an opportunity to visit with the students, as well as provide an industry and programming update to the FFA advisors.

The FFA IMPACT dates and locations for this year are:

September 7 – Scottsbluff

October 3 - Hastings

October 4 – Norfolk

October 13 - Norris

November 7 - Curtis

November 9 - Stuart - Stewart Auditorium

Nearly 300 students were on hand in Norfolk for the 2011 IMPACT workshop.
